

In recent postings on the Marl Road Blog website there have been statements made:

That I am arrogant –

1. Whether or not I am arrogant is immaterial! I still submit that in ANY civilized country (of which the Cayman Islands is NOT!) I and EVERYONE else living there should be subject to the SAME rule of law. The rule of law should apply equally and be applied with equal measure regardless of who is in the right and who is in the wrong.
2. If you paid for the land, the survey and the stamp duty on the land, and had a clear title to said land, yet had people;
 - parking vehicles & boats on my land
 - building on my land
 - scorching my fences
 - erecting clotheslines on my land (with my own stolen wire)
 - urinating and defecating upon my land
 - firebombing the buildings on my land
 - selling drugs and other illegal substances on my land

What would YOU do?

If the government has accepted a new boundary based upon rebar stakes recently put in the ground (after the long-existing cadastral survey markers were REMOVED) what should I do?

3. The barricades of my driveway were illegally removed (without any court order) thus opening my middle building up to truckload quantities of theft.

What would a reasonable person do at this point?

4. Unless you were born here, you are not and never will be Caymanian. Since most Caymanians were born to parents without the benefit of marriage, I will avoid the use of the pejorative word commonly used to describe this. In a recent year, the first-born child (several per day actually are born here) reported was on or about Feb. 23. This delay was to prevent announcing the birth of a child to unmarried parents!
5. I personally know of five West Bay residents who have sired children by the mother, the daughter and the granddaughter. The record was set several years ago by a fellow West Bay resident who had a child by the GREAT GRANDDAUGHTER. The rape of cows is constant and aggravated, with one having to be put down due to injuries sustained during the act. In one instance, a young Caymanian raped a cow across the street from the Tourism Department (Cricket Square) at about 1PM in broad daylight.
6. If you wish to visit or invest in a land this perverse, feel free, but I am gone. The twin cities of Sodom & Gomorrah were taken care of by God. This place is next! Instead of turning women into pillars of salt, their economics will take care of the problem nicely. Caymanianiacs believe this is their land. It isn't! We bought the best parts of it and paid for it. The new government policy is “WHITEY SHALL PAY FOR EVERYTHING!” See the rest of this site for many examples. The tax base is strongly skewed fee base where “whitey” pays and Caymaniacs play.

I believe that the name Ebanks in West Bay came about because when you can't find the father, you have to call it something! This is NOT the land I moved to 28 years ago. I advise you to stay away from here. If you do not heed the content of this site, don't blame me for your loss. Most of the banks here are not safe, the investment funds are largely unregulated, and there is no secrecy (privacy) here anymore. Most Caymanians will take your money, but hate your (white) guts!

That I was/am out to hurt Caymanians –

1. I spent millions of dollars buying a large block of property. I spent more on local (CAYMANIAN) labour, including bulldozers & backhoes to clear the jungle, and local contractors to build my home and the well furnished and appointed dive lodge.
2. Lillis Ebanks was my first maid for the dive lodge. She continually considered any empty room at the dive lodge her private party room, making extensive telephone calls at my expense. Tony Taron Ebanks (Alias Tony the Murderer) was once my gardener. In every employment position, I have always tried to employ Caymanians!
3. Until the Department of Environment failed to collect garbage more than a few times in TWO YEARS and I refused to pay fess for the (lack of) service, I operated a 5-room dive lodge which remained at or above 100% occupancy most of the year. In some cases, I put arriving guests in my spare bedroom until the previous guest(s) departed.
4. The CI Dept of Tourism gave Eldemire's Guest House a “GOOD” rating while I received only an “ACCEPTABLE” rating. Have you seen these two properties?? Shared bathrooms and kitchens, with bedsheets for curtains for Eldemire's, completely furnished efficiency kitchens with a dishwasher and private bathrooms for mine. Getting a clue yet??
5. During one Christmas/New year's PEAK season, my maid at the time, Melba Powery (?) Thompson (?) (???) [Allegedly she was married to two different men] left for an unannounced vacation in Honduras, and I was later ordered by CI Labour Dept. to pay $800 severance (for unfair dismissal!) for abandoning her job without any notice!

Shall I continue??

Was/Am I out to hurt Caymanians? Certainly this was not true, at least not at the outset. I found the Cayman of 28 years ago a paradise with friendly people and wonderful opportunities for investment. But given my more recent experience I am prone to give as much as I have gotten. If I can save ONE potential investor or visitor from the fate of falling afoul of the TWO LAWS system in Cayman, then I have done my personal duty.
